Dear Ed, finally got to the Cain columns. Wiedrich's interests me much more because of t e Bay of Pigs allegations. Instinct tells me to doubt much of that part, but it does not diminish my interest if there is anything else. I was not aware of any Mexican branches. However, what is not generally recognized is the proximity of Yuca tan. And it is alleged to be a right-wing stronghold. If there would seem to be no reason to connect this alleged political past with the killing, it may be worth tryi to keep in mind. The federal agency feuding with CIA in Mexico could be only FBI. It probably has a special relationship there. Informal and largely political...Because there seem to be no overt Cuban links, can there be any basis for his CIA connection assuming it to be real, other than political? Amd how could that kind of cat have a political connection? And what was he going to teach guerrillas? HW 1/5/74
